

THE ARGUS
Volume 60 - Number 1
Friday, July 23, 1999

Camp Shohola
105 Weber Road
Greeley, Pennsylvania
18425-9797
Frank C. Barger - Director

(570) 685-2640
(570) 685-7186 (BUSINESS)
(570) 685-4563 (FAX)
ARGUS@shohola.com (E-MAIL)
www.shohola.com (WEB ADDRESS)

ARGUS ADMINISTRATION
EDITOR IN CHIEF - Tommy Strandvall
SUPERVISOR - Tom Gibson

The Shohola "S" is given to those campers who in the estimation of the Camp Shohola Staff, demonstrate achievement, friendliness, helpfulness, responsibility and leadership. The Argus would like to congratulate the following campers for receiving this prestigious award:

Spencer Allen - Cabin 12
Jonathan Gottfried - Cabin 6
Alex Bryson - Cabin 16
Brian Marino - Cabin 7

Steven Gottfried - Cabin 16
Paul Schneider - Cabin 2

Arts and crafts

By Ben Schneider
Cabin 13

Arts and crafts is a little different from other craft activities. First of all, in arts and crafts you don't follow a routine. You get to choose what you want to do and then use your creativity to make a personalized item. Of course if you can not come up with your own idea, there are great products such as bracelets or t-shirts that you can do. Overall in arts and crafts you can use your creativity in almost any kind of arts material possible.

Carving

By Wesley Corning
Cabin 16

Carving is a new activity this year at Shohola. I joined it not knowing what it would be like. We use electric carvers to shape the totem pole and all other parts which will be attached later. Radek is very helpful and can get you out of any jam. The totem pole we are making will be placed permanently on campus somewhere. It takes a lot of skill and concentration to work the sheathers but in the end of the project looks wonderful.

Drawing and sketching

By Greg Passuntino
Cabin 14

During the first days of Drawing and Sketching class, we had gone out to the lake. There we practiced the fundamentals of drawing (shading, lines and tone). Gregor would watch us, and whenever asked for help he'd be by our sides. Helping and giving advice on where to go with our ideas. Once the heat wave had passed over us we moved into the arts and crafts building.

Some would sit outside and practice drawing flowers, leaves and trees. Do matter what, we were always working and being taught at the same time. In my sketch book, I had been making tags. These are graffiti looking woods. I must have written bLaZe 20 or more times until; Gregor noticed. Then and asked if I'd like to put some of them on the wall. I did. Then in the next class Gregor showed me the spray paint it was pretty cool. I had always wanted to spray paint, and here was my big chance. Gregor said " You must have something planned out before you spray." So we made stencils. There stencils were a lot of fun. We draw our idea cut it out, and then take it to the wall, once there we would spray paint it. Every B day I look forward to Drawing and Sketching because I know I'll learn something new every time.

Internet

By Kyle Smith

The Internet class is divided into two different groups, advanced and beginners. The beginners, Cesar, Matthew and Robert, learn basic HTML, computer graphics and how to make a basic web page. The advanced class, Craig and Zak, made a shockwave animation for the Shohola chat page. They also made a new Java chat room. One of the major changes in the computer room this year is the addition of three new computers for writing e-mail and surfing the Internet. Two of the computers are dedicated exclusively for writing e-mail off line and can be used by campers and staff at almost any time. The two other computers can be used on line for surfing the net and checking online e-mail accounts and are used off line for the Internet and computer music classes. Thanks to Tommy Strandvall, Tom Gibson and David Love for putting in many hard hours overtime getting the computers up and running and for hooking up the networks.