Shohola Celebrates It's 70th Summer!

Over the years, Shohola has faced its hardships and highpoints, but the sight of this summer being the 70th summer of business and enjoyment was a joyful sight for all involved. When the staff entered into this year, they had no idea what they were in for and how amazing this summer would become. Starting off with the reunion taking place right before the camp season officially started, many faces from recent to distant past graced Camp Shohola with their presence once again. From all the way into the 1950's, the stories flowed around the tables and long lost friends were reunited on the same site they once met. Many of the new and recently acquired staff partook in numerous conversations with past campers and staff, and learned about why Camp Shohola is a symbol for both brotherhood and family. There was even the returning point of the Most Improved trophy for horse-back riding, which had left Camp Shohola for exactly thirty years before coming back this year. Also, the numerous name plates that once resided on each one of the cabins on the hill were auctioned off and the proceeds were given to the Shohola Scholarship fund to help other children experience the same live-giving experiences Camp Shohola has to offer. When all was done, the preparation for the greatest summer yet on record began in the blink of an eye. As campers rolled in, and weeks passed, there was a sense of true magic in the air. This, Camp Shohola is the beginning of the greatest summer yet.

Throughout the summer at Camp Shohola, there are a few campers who shine above the rest. These men are recognized through an award called the "Shohola S".

To win this award, you must surpass regular camp standards set in the cabin, be a leader amongst other campers, and be the person who makes camp more enjoyable for everyone else. The "S" winners have been chosen for their optimistic view around camp, as well as for their kindness towards others.

Not only must these campers stand out in a family of amazing campers and be recognized by their peers, but they must also catch the eye of their counselors. To win the "S", a camper must receive an 80% staff vote agreeing that he should win.

This honor is much cherished, and the recipients should be congratulated thoroughly. These campers are recognized as being the best of the best on camp, and are a true representation of the Camp Shohola spirit that we all truly look for in a friend and a camper.

SHOHOLA SPORTS

HITTIN' OUTTA THE PARK!

SAM FOX-HALPERIN

CABIN 6

Baseball is one of my favorite classes at Camp Shohola. As a warm-up, we do throwing drills. We also do hitting drills like home run derby and every so often a Little League World Series. Practicing fielding drills helps to keep our playing ability balanced, and we do drills like ground ball knockouts and live batting practice. Oliver Umpleby and Marshall Rader are the main teachers and do a really good job teaching the class; showing us how to play the game well. We also work on hand-eye coordination by playing with two balls. Overall, I think Baseball is a good class and it has helped me improve my skills in the game.

PUSHIN' PAST THE PAIN

ELIAS WOLMAN

CABIN 6

I am in LC Conditioning. The point of this class is to improve your strength and stamina. We do suicides and super suicides. These are when you do a regular suicide, but on the first sprint you do push-ups; second sprint you do sit-ups; third you do burpees; and fourth you do squat jumps. We also do ab workouts and sprints. In the class, we worked with tires to help build up our muscles. I like Conditioning because it helps me get stronger. I want to push myself so I can be the best. I really love Conditioning and today, I took a water cooler all the way from the soccer field to the hill without any help. It is a great class and you should take it.

PUTT PUTT FOR A HOLE IN ONE

WILL KULOK

CABIN 7

Golf class with Tom, Andy, and Bryan makes a great use of an hour of your day. We do friendly games, and sometimes competitions for an extra canteen. Plus, if you like hot dogs, Golf class is the place to be. In Golf, we play all sorts of fun games. For example, the teacher sets a par number to a hole. The hole is far enough not to overshoot, yet it is close enough to not be able to undershoot. The games are amazing; in fact, it is like you are at a real golf course.

Usually once a week we (5A class) go to "The Lynx". To go, you need to be in Golf or be amazing at the sport. But, there is a limited amount of room on the trip so you have to be prepared to quickly sign up for the trip. After playing golf, we eat at a restaurant and are able to have soda. All of this is because we have a passion for the sport, and the teachers want to reward us for that. If you like what you hear, then Golf class is the place for you!

ROUGH AND TUMBLIN'

NICK CHIRICO

CABIN 15

For most people, the first class of the day is ideally a calm or somewhat slow class such as Fishing or Stained Glass. However, in the 1A class of Mixed Martial Arts, the energy is overwhelming and excitement level is turned up to full power. It's the perfect way to start the day. The main counselor: Ty Brooks, always knows what he is doing and it makes the class that much more enjoyable because of his knowledge of the sport and his ever-existent sense of humor. With a whole assortment of campers ranging from Cabin 1 to the Working Seniors, it makes it quite difficult for the counselors to make lessons that are universally able to be done by all campers. The counselors do really well in the class showing simple ways and using simple terms to help everyone understand the class and how to do it. For myself, fighting and wrestling has always been something I enjoy doing, but due to its popularity not matching that of sports such as basketball and soccer, not as many people are interested in taking the class. Since it is so underrated by its lack of popularity, it is amazing to see it offered here at camp. Due to this, I think it is my favorite class on camp.

SHOOTIN' FOR THE GOLD

MAX COLEMAN

CABIN 7

Riflery is so much fun. It is safe because it is locked up after class. You can take it with your friends. In the class, you can shoot targets and try to shoot through the bullseye. When you shoot, you can look through the sight on the gun and you use the sight to have a better aim for the target. If you are not good at shooting: keep trying. When I did riflery a year ago, I was not really that good at shooting. But, this year, I am much better and have learned how to shoot better and how to hold the gun properly. This shows that you should keep trying and you will get better. Sometimes, we get to shoot apples and it's really fun watching them explode.

SHOHOLA WATER

SAIL ACROSS THE WORLD

JADON HOFFMAN

CABIN 6

Sailing is one of my favorite classes. In Sailing, they teach you how to tack and untack the sailboat. I taught one of my teachers how to sail because he did not actually know how. Each part of the sail boat has a specific name and job. If one of the parts is not used right or breaks, the sailboat will not work properly. We go out on the lake and get to sail back and forth across the lake using the wind to push us. It takes a while to learn, but after you get the hang of it, it becomes pretty easy. Sailing is a very good class and you should take it.

WIND IN MY FACE, FEET ON MY BOARD

ALEX WETZLER

CABIN 11

Windsurfing class is an awesome class. It is like sailing, but instead uses a board and a different kind of balance to maneuver around the lake. I have fun every single class, even though I am far from the best in the class. The teachers are Miguel Pallares and Wesley Cotter. The class is also very fun because you always get wet, and it feels great on a regularly boiling hot day. This past week the temperatures went up almost to 100 degrees and it was great being on the lake rather than sitting in the hot sun all day. I have learned how to work with the wind and where to put my feet on the board to maneuver the sail in the right direction. Also, we play games to help us with our balance on the board before we go out to the lake with the sail with no coordination at all. I really enjoy Windsurfing and encourage everyone to try something new while they are at camp because you never know if you are going to enjoy it.

KAY-YAK-YAK-YAK-ING

LORENZO OROZCO

CABIN 6

Kayaking is my favorite activity because we learn a lot of things down at the waterfront like how to paddle and how to do an underwater escape. Also, it is tons of fun because the rolls we do with the kayak are really cool to learn. Eduardo Orozco and Andres Huacuja make a great team because they both are Mexican and both are always happy. In this week, I learned how to make a barrel roll and it was amazing. I want to learn how to do a hand roll later too. I really love Kayaking class and I think you should take it because you will really enjoy it.

SHOHOLA TECH

DIGITAL ART: PHOTO STYLE

MICAH HARKINS

CABIN 11

While in Digital Photography, you might take your own pictures, take pictures from the online website for camp, or make your own picture and use Adobe Photoshop to edit the picture into what you imagine. All of these are entertaining and worth doing, but I believe the best is editing a picture from online because you can make it your own and leads to great results. It is usually a small class, so you can always get a turn with the cameras or a computer. Using the computer, you can take someone who is diving into the water and instead make them dive into pudding or something like that. Digital Photography is worth signing up for so you should do it.

LIGHTS! CAMERA! ACTION!

BENJI PRICKETT

CABIN 5

Video Production is one of my favorite activities out of all of the activities offered at camp. Video Production is very fun because you are able to make your own movies. My favorite part is definitely filming and working with all the gear they have. Using the different cameras and learning the different angles of shooting has helped me understand how to shoot a better movie. The hardest part about Video Production class is putting in music and gun flares so that they match up with the right section of the movie. Finding the right music for a scene that needs a dramatic build up or an action scene with thrilling chase music is quite difficult. All in all, I think Video Production is a great activity and I think you should take it if you can.

PHOTOSHOP PROFESSIONALISM

ALEX WETZLER

CABIN 11

While taking Digital Photography, we learn how to take good pictures, and how to use Photoshop to edit them. The class is taught by Scotty Bamford. So far, we have learned the basics of using Photoshop. In Photoshop, you can make everything except for the one thing in black and white, or even making a picture with a funny caption. I definitely would take this class again. I would like to go out and take my own photos and work with them to make a really good edited picture that almost looks real in itself.

SHOHOLA ARTS

METAL BENDING ARTISTICALLY

EDWARD HOFFMAN

CABIN 15

I love taking Silvershop class each year. There are so many things to do and so many projects to use your creativity on. If you want, you can take a saw and cut a shape in a sheet of metal, or make anything from a necklace to a ring for someone at home. Then, you can use the solder flame to make it bond and create a full circle. To remove the ash excess, you use the acid to break it off then wash it. Then, you can enamel the project and make it have colors. Polishing is the last step before finishing the project. Rings are the most popular thing made in Silvershop. I really like Silvershop class and Reka does an amazing job teaching it.

GLASS WITH CLASS

CABIN 15

Stained Glass is one of my favorite classes at Camp Shohola. There are so many designs that you can make that are made up of hundreds of pieces of glass geometrically pieced together. We usually have a radio playing to let us chill for the period while we work on our projects and make them amazing. The class takes place right under the Dining Hall in an area that used to be the Working Senior cabin long ago, and swapped places with the Nanny Room a few years ago for more room. Since it is under the Dining Hall, if you are hungry, all you have to do is grab a piece of fruit from upstairs and you do not have to walk very far. Stained Glass is an amazing class because it makes me understand how they make the masterpieces that are for sale for close to $50.00 regularly and I can make one for free. I really love Stained Glass class and love going there every day.

SHAKESPEARE WANNA -BE'S

BAILEY HOFFMAN

CABIN 6

In Theatre class, we play improv games like channel switch, park bench, freeze, party quirks, and much much more. Most of the time we practice for the play because we have a lot to do before the actual presentation of the play. Usually we play improv games before we practice for the play. Theatre class meets during 5th period on A days. Reka and Connor teach Theatre in the Rec Hall. I love being in the class because it allows for just being yourself and not really worrying how to be cool. The things I have learned like how to write a play, how to act well, and even how to act off of someone else, have taught me to really appreciate the class and all it has to offer.

IN THE SPOTLIGHT AND LOVIN' IT

CHARLIE MCFADDEN

CABIN 7

I take Theatre class every A Day in 5th period. It is one of the best parts of my day each day. The directors of Theatre are Connor Kelley and Reka. Connor says that he has enjoyed and loved the class for the past three years. We are working on the new play "The Shoholiad" where Holly gets kidnapped by Pine Forest Camp and we have to get her back. I play Duncan in the play, and you will have to see how it all "plays" out. When we are not making great plays and creating scenes of gold, we are improv-ing and learning how to improve out acting skills. We play improv games, which are games that make us think on our feet when we are acting. It is one of my favorite classes and I always have fun when I am there. Join and see why the class is oh so much fun!

SHOHOLA ACTIVITIES

I'M ON A HORSE OSCAR PANDAL CABIN 10

When I came for my first year, I took Riding. I knew how to ride, but I was not expecting all of the differences camp had to offer. Here at Camp Shohola, they teach you everything from how to put the saddle on the horse, to what the positionings are for the perfect walk, trot and canter of the horse. They even show you how to lead up to the jump and how to make the horse go over the jump. I love Riding classes, even though I did not take the class this year, are still a lot of fun. I really like the counselors that teach the classes and they know how to show you what to do even though you have never done it before. If you take Riding, there are different activities you can participate in like going to a Rodeo or even going to the fair at the end of the year. Sometimes, on hot days, we take the horses down to the lake and have them swim in the water while we ride them. It is really cool and it cools down the horses to make them not too hot. We also have different competitions with other camps in the area, but our most important one is the one with Camp Netimus where we battle our hardest for the gold. I really like Riding and I am definitely taking it next year.

TREES, MOSS, AND GREEN STUFF JUDAH HAMMER CABIN 15

Today was a fair weathered day, nice and breezy with clear skies. It was a beautiful day to walk around the forest and enjoy nature. This is exactly what we did in Nature today. We saw a lot of cool plants and we also saw a penny toad as well. I really enjoy Nature class because it makes you look around and the environment camp is set in and appreciate our surrounding and how rarely we actually get to see an area so serene as the one we are all in. Plus, at the end we get to have a Nature Secret, but if I told you what it was, I would have to kill you.

TIE? HOW CAN THERE BE A TIE? LEVI HOFFMAN CABIN 6

This year in the Shohola vs Netimus Horse Show, we did an amazing job competing against the girls in all of the events. The events were Walk, Walk to Sitting Trot, Walk to Posting Trot, Walk to Trot to Canter, and Cross Jump. In most of the events, the Hoffmans got first place, and really did well in the competition. The horses we took with us were Beamer: a golden pony, Carlos:

a brown horse with a white dot, Snoopy: a Chestnut who has been here before, JD: an Appaloosa with speckles all over his body, and Charlie: a dark brown Bay which was new this year. The horseback riders for Shohola really did their best in the competitions, and it came down to the final competition to see who would take home the

ZIPPIN THRU BELAYIN' DANIEL PERRY CABIN 1

I like Ropes because it is the best class. It is a lot of fun and I do not know who teaches it, but it is amazing. You get to climb the wall, the spider web and the low ropes course. Sometimes, we get to use the zip line and fly through the forest over the creek. I think Ropes class is really fun.

gold for the day. The counselors from both camps tallied up the scores, and were as shocked as we were at the end when it ended up being a tie at 71 points each. I do not think there has ever been a tie before either. All that I know is that we will end up beating them later anyways, because that is just the way Shohola does competitions: leaving it all in the ring.

SHOHOLA TRADITION

FIRE AND FAMILY DARREN KASOFF CABIN 15

It's Sunday night. Everyone has obtained and stocked up on their delicious and valuable canteens, as well as their comfortable pillows, waterbottles, and flashlights. Taking their sweatshirts and sandals from storage, they are prepared for the night. This all roots from having the once a week spectacle known as Campfire.

Campfire is a time for silly songs and crazy games. The ever-so-famous Crayola Man/Fairy God Person works his magic to start the warm, delicate fire by repeating the magic word "Shoop" (There have been rumors of Crayola Man/Fairy God Person being Larry, the Camera Man, but you can never believe these rumors because they are completely and utterly false).

Many campers have lost their brothers due to "Brother, Brother, Where art thou Brother?". Many songs sung at Campfire include "The Beaver Song", "Young Folks, Old Folks", "Bear Hunt", "Three Jolly Fishermen", "Spearmint", and much much more! Every year, a trick is done to a counselor during campfire. One popular trick that comes to mind is the trick where water is poured into a counselor's pants via a funnel. There is also the Hungarian Beauty Duty (now not so Hungarian) where counselors use pick up lines and compete to see who is more suave to the women. Too bad Oliver Umpleby couldn't even sit in the chair!

The chair was sneakily taken away since it was covered by a sheet, and when the sheet is tight, it seems like the chair is still there. It was taken away so that he would make a fool of himself, which he ended up doing very well.

After all the fun and games of Campfire, Duncan settles the whole camp down and reads a story to everyone. We sit back and relax as we listen closely to the exciting story. Some of these stories include "Lenigen and the Ants", "The Most Dangerous Game", "To Build A Fire", and "Smokers Inc.". Then, when everyone, and I mean everyone, is at the edge of their seats waiting to hear the next plot twist, Duncan cuts it off and forces a one more week break from the grabbing thriller. How cruel!

Last, but definitely not least of all, we all get up slowly and drowsily walk our way to surround the fire and sing Taps. For those who do not know what Taps is it goes a little something like this:

Day is done
Gone the sun
From the lakes
From the hills
From the sky
All is well
Safely rest
God is nye.

Campers make their way down the hill and away from campfire, walk steadily into their cabin illuminated by their flashlights, and start to get ready for bed. All that is ringing in their minds as they gently fall into slumber is, "I cannot wait until next week's campfire!"

TWO NICEST PEOPLE IN THE WORLD

CHRIS GILKESON

CABIN 1

Hey guys, did you know that Duncan Barger and Holly Barger are so nice? This camp was discovered in 1943. I am in Cabin 1, which is the best cabin. Duncan and Holly sit at my table for breakfast, lunch and dinner. When we go to campfire, they always read out the campers of the week, and at the end, Duncan gets up to read us all a really cool story. They also give out sweatshirts for everyone if they have been here long, and make funny skits. They know everyone's names. After campfire, we go back to our cabins. I think Duncan and Holly are the nicest people in the world.

SHOOTIN' FOR DOUBLE SCOOPS

TOM SARRO

CABIN 15

Cabin Clean Up consists of you and your cabinmates completely cleaning your cabin. The way you can get a perfect score is through teamwork and maintaining the responsibility for your own job. You can lose points for not doing your job properly such as not making your beds. There are different parts of the inspection list that you have to pay attention to and make sure you adhere by because if you don't, points will be taken off from your score and you may lose points for your cabin and not get double scoops of ice cream at the end of the week. If you do your best, you will get to getting double scoops, but Cabin Clean Up is an art and is not something to just mess around with.

SHOHOLA TRADITION

SNEAKIN' IN THE DARK

ANTON SACHS
CABIN 7

If you are sneaky and you like to go outside at night, then this is the game for you! If you want to play Stalk the Lantern, you have to have strength, skills, speed, and smarts. Instead of the OD ringing the bell to have campers go back to their cabins at 9:00pm, everyone in either lower camp or upper camp musters on the hill in preparation for the game. At muster, the OD announces the rules of the game and how the game is played to the people participating. The rules are that when you start the game, you sneak your way down the hill and try to touch the rock wall in the Ropes Course without being tagged out by one of the people sitting on the top of the wall with a flashlight. If you are lit up by a counselor's flashlight, you are told to go back to your cabin and your chances of winning are over. The object of the game is to remain completely silent and hidden behind objects in the forest to make sure the counselors do not hear you. This is difficult when there are leaves all around the wall and sticks that snap when you step on them. This is all part of the challenge of the game. If you get the chance to play, you should really try your hardest because it is really fun.

PLEASE DON'T STOP THE MUSIC

MIKE RYAN
WORKING SENIOR

Each time a dance night comes, the Hill is filled with shouts of campers pushing others out of their way for the want of a decent shower. After their showers, most are rushing to pick clothes and layer on deodorant. Of course there are kids who say they don't really care because, "it's not that big of a deal", but after not seeing girls for two weeks, deep inside there is no doubt that they are scared, excited, and borderline psychotic.

When either the girls come to Shohola or we arrive at Netimus, there is awkwardness followed by small groups of people talking. At every dance, whether it is obvious or not, I can guarantee you will see the occasional kid who is dancing from beginning to end.

Most think the dance won't be fun; but when the music is blasting, and DJ Malcolm is playing everyone's favorite song, "Call Me Maybe" everyone is on their feet having fun by the end.

And it is only two more weeks until the next night of chaos.

NEW YORK CITY: SHOHOLA STYLE

RAFA PALLARES
CABIN 15

Pranking is one of the most delicate things on camp, but also one of the most fun. You see, pranks have to be funny and creative, but they also have to be easy to clean or pick up. There are two types of pranks: camp pranks and pranks to cabins. Camp pranks are funny things that you do somewhere in camp, like moving all the tables and benches from the dining hall to the waterfront and eating breakfast there (as the Working Senior '12 crew did this year), or moving the CommTech veranda to the hill, or decorating the hill as New York City (after the baseball game). Pranking a cabin is when you do something to a specific cabin, like hiding their trunks or stealing all of the bathroom doors and lightbulbs. Pranks are one of the biggest parts of Camp Shohola and camp would not be the same without them. Plus, if you do not know how to prank the right way, and you over-prank someone, well...you do not want to see what that looks like.

SLEEPY TIME IN THE AFTERNOON

JACKSON ADLER
CABIN 15

Rest Hour is a magical time of day. After three long and fun activities and a filling lunch, everyone needs a nice break from action to rest for an hour. Depending on who your counselor is, your rest hour can go one of two ways: it can be completely silent or half and half where you have time to play games and talk to your friends in the second half of the hour. Rest Hour is also a great time to write a letter home to your family or write an article for the Argus. It gives free time within the cabin to organize your area or read a book you need to finish for school. After an hour or more of a break from camp fun, you get to return to your activities and continue your day. This is a much needed part of the day so that kids do not get cramps in swimming or kids do not get sick from running too much after eating. Plus, the rest we get can allow for recovery from the morning and preparedness for the afternoon.

STOORRYYY TIIMMEE!

A FORESTED ADVENTURE

BY: JONATHAN "GIBBY" GIBSON

CABIN 3

"Mom! Dad! Are we there yet?" Jason had been riding along in the back seat of his parents car for what felt like a year. In reality, they had only been driving for a little over an hour. They had been driving to a magical place full of wonderment and awe and Jason couldn't wait to be there.

"Not yet Jason, We're about half way there. But we can stop once we get into the mountains to see some sights!" Jason smiled at his dad and thought of seeing all that the mountains can offer. He was born and raised in a city so the thought of being surrounded by trees excited him. The smell of the air, the quiet murmur of the forest, all of it were things Jason wanted to experience. He snuggled back into the den he had created for himself and quietly escaped into a trance as he thought of what adventures the summer would hold. He stared at the window and watched the world pass by. He began to see mountains off in the distance which instantly snapped him out of his waking dreams.

"Mom! Dad! I see the mountains!" Jason pressed his face against the window and was instantly surprised with how cold the glass was but the clear view of the mountains instantly erased any discomfort.

"There's a cute little lake on the map we can stop at Jay. We can even go for a little swim and cool off!" Jason smiled at the thought of swimming in a lake. All he'd ever swam in before was a chlorine filled pool that stung his eyes whenever he opened them. The thought of being able to swim with his eyes open without wearing goggles excited him and he spent the rest of the drive to the lake thinking about all the things he would do when they got to the lake. Sure enough, he saw a break in the trees and behind them was a large crystal clear lake. He saw lily-pads and birds and all sorts of woodland creatures. He marveled at the sight of the unbroken naturalness and as soon as the car stopped he kicked off his shoes and ran straight into the water.

"Jay! Put on your bathing suit first!" Jason stopped in his tracks and nervously smiled back at his mother. He quickly ran back into the car to don his bathing suit. Once he was happily swimming around the lake he noticed something in the water. A large fish was swimming around beneath the surface of the lake snatching up any bits of food it could find. He plunged his head beneath the water and was greeted with the largest fish he had seen in his entire life! The fish slowly approached Jason, eyeing him up carefully before swimming off to find more food. Jason quickly swam back to the shore at the sound of his mother's voice calling him to lunch. After eating and sharing his story of the fish he helped his parents clean up before once again setting off to lands unknown.

"Jason, we're here." Jason perked up at the sound of his father's voice. He had fallen asleep staring out the window watching the mountains grow in the distance. He looked around and saw all sorts of amazing things. There were kids his age playing basketball with kids twice his age and there was a big lake with boats, docks, and even a trampoline. His mom told him it was time to repack all his things because his new counselors were there to help carry all his things to his new cabin. After a rush of introductions Jason was finally allowed to run off and explore the camp. He instantly took off, running all over the place asking whoever was near what things were. He heard names like Rec Hall, Dinning Hall, Nature Cabin, Commtech, and Infirmary. Once he had finished running around camp seeing everything he was allowed to he took a minute to look at things a little more closely. He saw bushes filled with berries and decided to pick a few and eat them. He found blueberries and black berries and then out of the corner of his eye he saw what looked like a trail leading back into the forest. He grabbed a few more berries and then slowly at first walked along the path and after awhile he came to a small wooden building. He looked into the building and then a small deer came bounding out of the building and off into the forest. Jason smiled and thought of what an awesome story this would make so he quickly rushed off to find his parents.

*Did I ever tell you my friend
how often you were in my thoughts, how strong a hold you keep on my heart,
to see you as time passes by.
How good it is to see you again,
to run your courses of days,
strung along by all that you demand and binding me by all that I receive, no matter even how utterly weary
you make me feel,
asking me again and again,
so much and still even more.*

*But, did I ever tell you that I don't mind, I don't mind at all.
That I don't mind the endless chores you ask of me,
the countless times I climb your hill.
That I don't mind your pacy bustle,
pushing decibels till silence is just no longer there.
That I don't mind the strain my tolerance takes by your omni-present radiance.
That I don't mind being bombarded
by the eager, explosive minds you harbor, nor by the constant pressure of things to do,
to ask, to think of, to arrange, to get, to remember.*

*For did I ever tell you my friend
how much I love you.
How much I love your early morning mist,
silently surrounding those pretty little lillies.
How much I love your cold torrential rains,
lashing violently down amidst the thunder.
How much I love your darkest nights and marvel at the million stars.
How much I love your bright blue skies,
the sunlight streaming through your leaves.
How much I love your intensity,
your vibrant character always there.
How much I love your pulsing energy, flowing in and out like tidal waves.*

*And- Oh I know
the sweet rick of my sentiment,
the fear of tears I try to avoid.
But how can I mind,
why should I mind at all,
when in the end, all I mind is saying good-bye to you.*
