

The Argus

Volume 67 Issue 1

Saturday, July 15, 2006

Camp Shohola

105 Weber Road

Greeley, PA 18425-9797

Duncan Barger – Executive Director

Adrian Hazell – Co-Director

Phone: 570 685-7186

Fax: 570 685-4563

E-Mail: office@shohola.com

Web page: <http://www.shohola.com>

Argus Administration

Matt Smith – Editor-in-Chief

Tom Gibson – Counselor advisor

Malcolm Hale and Max Steinberg – Typographers

Andre Rogers and Sam Rashin – Activity Editors

Assisted by the rest of the 2006 working seniors

The Shohola “S” Winners

The Shohola “S” is given to those campers who, in the estimation of the Camp Shohola staff, demonstrate achievement, friendliness, helpfulness, responsibility and leadership. The Argus would like to congratulate the following campers for receiving this prestigious award.

Lyle Ciardi, Cabin 3

Wyatt Cotter, Cabin 3

Armand Latreille, Cabin 5

Bert Van Der Hoof, Cabin 14

Activities

Kayaking

By Keenan McAuliffe

Don't forget your skirt, or you're doomed in the wild ride of Kayaking. Kayaking is a thrilling experience that uses our strength of mind, body and technique to help us along in the water without capsizing and getting stranded in the middle of the lake. Kayaking is an adventure itself because everyday is a new quest. The training Kayaking gives you is not only for the water, but also for life. For example, practice hard, keep going, don't give up, etc. Overall, Kayaking is a journey floating around, waiting to be found by you and me.

Corsecuencia

by Roberto Pardo

The Shohola and Netimus dances are very fun. You will have a great time making new friends that are girls. You will see a lot of friends, but

I am from Venezuela and

I took a great surprise, a friend told me there's a Venezuelan girl but not just a Venezuelan, but one from my school! You see, Shohola and Netimus are magical places, where people all over the world go to have a good time.

Nature

By Nick Mower

Nature is a wonderful activity to attend because you learn so much from the things that you might not even know was ever there. I took nature my first year at Shohola and I loved going on the nature trails and identifying different bugs and other animals that are living everywhere; in the water, on the land and sometimes, even in the sky. Plus, there are two new activities! Nature Crafts and Nature Trips! Nature crafts are so cool and I am taking it this year and so far we have made a box full of nature materials, we wove straw and sticks together and put all sorts of plants inside and we made nature puzzles and switched with each other and tried to put them together. That was the hardest part. Plus, the other piece to nature is Nature Trips, which you can't sign up for on sign-up day, but you can meet George on the deck after the meal and sign up then. Believe me, these trips are a lot of fun, and maybe, just maybe, if you sign up you will figure out one of Nature's sweetest secrets.

The Barn

By Brent Fried

Stay away from the rear, horses will kick. There is mucking and feeding. Riding is not as easy as you might think. You have to saddle up, go into the ring and get on, but that's only half of it. The rest is experience. You have to be gentle and strong and willing to not give up if you fall off. I give thanks to Emma, Lisa, Rileen, Darrin, and Manuel for a great summer at the barn.

The Amateur Radio Hamfest

By Chris Gibson

Working Senior

On Sunday morning the campers in the Amateur Radio ham class, Advanced Computer Class and Advanced Electronics went to the Matamoras Airport to an electronic flea market called a Hamfest. We each were given ten dollars to spend and get the best electronic gadgets we could find.

Paul Fremeau got a VHF and UHF scanner and said “this is the best bargain I ever got”. I got a Nintendo 64 with twelve games, two controllers, a steering wheel and a memory pack. Kyle Egan got an antique, eighty year old amp meter, a frequency meter and a bunch of circuit boards. Most of the stuff we got was less than a dollar, but some was a little more. Some of the stuff was even free. There were boxes of stuff all over that were full of things free for the taking. Everyone was very nice and they were happy to help us find what we needed. I was looking for a television modulator and they announced it over the PA system to everyone at the Hamfest. There was a lot of electronic junk there including computer circuit boards, satellite receivers, lot of ham gear, and electronic test equipment. This was my first Hamfest and it was great.

Video Production

By Zach Herring

Counselor, Cabin 3

I speak as a new-comer. This is my first year as a counselor, so it's also my first year to teach Video classes to anyone, much less in a summer-camp environment. I will say that I'm impressed. Earlier, during the first month, a group of some 8 kids got together and in the span of roughly 12 hours (a one hour class three times a week) assembled a full-length. It was executed wonderfully, from brainstorming for the concept to scripting to execution and post-production. And it was funny. Not in an amateurish, look what the kids are doing on-screen sort of way, but in a legitimately creative method they presented a satire of a television show, and it was fantastic. What is more, it was not just this class, or just this assortment of kids. The other class that I had a pleasure to teach first month (project code-named Green-White War) and the two projects that were undertaken this month were startlingly good. The kids exhibited an amount of creativity and dedication to their ideas that I was not expecting and I only regret that I wasn't able to entirely keep up with their pace. Only one of the four classes really finished their movie from class (the other three were hamstrung late in the post-production stages by our ever-present enemy, technology) but they all presented formidable, truly great ideas. Their creativity deserves applause, and I feel this is the best way to give it to them. So to the guys of Video Production; thank you for sharing your talents, your ideas, and your effort. They were very much appreciated and I hope to work with all of you again, next summer.

Baseball

By: Drew "Hebrew Hammer" Levan

Although Camp Shohola has many sports for its campers it seems that basketball has always been at the top of the list. There are 4 classes offered of basketball and for all of them there are people signed up. Even when the kids are not in class they always find their way to the court. There is really a time when someone is not playing basketball, well except in meal times. In addition there is also the NBA which is the basketball league offered in camp for kids in upper camp. This allows kids to play competitively and in organized games in the evening. The final always prove to be dramatic and tends to draw people's attention.

Woodshop

By: Anonymous

Playing with wood all my life is what I liked. I liked that here in Shohola I got the opportunity to use my knowledge and build something. I am building a sword. It is long and very strong and with nice decorations. I like woodshop because it is my passion to play with wood. I would encourage to try this activity next year.

Silvershop

By Anonymous

When it was the day to sign up for our activities I knew exactly what I was going to do except for one period 4B. I decided to take Silvershop because everything else was full. I ended up being very interested in it. Rob and Nicole were really helpful helping me make my project. Silver shop ended up being one of my best activities in camp.

Painting and Drawing

By: Alex Pipiris

I am a person who all the time likes to do sports, but I took this class because I wanted to learn how to draw. At the beginning everyone thought I took this class only to be with Nichole but at the end everyone realized that I took that class for my talent. As I came the first week at camp I knew I was going to take that class to improve and I did. My talent grew and so did my pictures. I think I am going to quit playing sports. Jajaja.

Babysitting

By: Sheba

Many people in camp look at me and wonder what a lady is doing in camp. The answer is I am a babysitting. I take care of the Bangers and the Hazells. It is a very good job until someone starts crying, that is when I go crazy. Well that is basically what I like to do at camp.

Soccer

By: Juan Manuel Jimenez

Every time I come to camp I have a variety of activities to choose from. I always try to choose the activities you wouldn't normally do at home such as kayaking. But soccer even though I play it in Mexico it makes me want to play it here. Here in camp we play vs. several camps. Soccer to me is very important but in camp soccer changes. It makes me happy playing with people of other nations and seeing how we come together by one sport...SOCCER

Amateur Radio

By: Paul Fremeau

In my opinion, Amateur (Ham) Radio is one of the best activities offered at Camp Shohola. It offers many opportunities to meet new people in your town and around the world. Ham Radio is a mix of electronics and radio broadcasting. You will learn skills that you can use for the rest of your life. With the skills you learn in class, you get an immense amount of enjoyment, which could lead to a great job in electronics or radio communication.

In class this year, we talked over the radio to a man in England, and a man driving in a car in South Africa. It is really cool to be able to talk in this way. Ham Radio has many different aspects because of the different ways we can talk to people. Amateur Radio operators can talk to each other by bouncing radio waves off the atmosphere, linking people together over the Internet by sending text messages, and they can even send pictures. There are even satellites orbiting earth that relay signals so that hams can talk to each other through the satellite.

If you like talking to other people and would like to try exciting things, like talking to people through a satellite or by bouncing signals off the moon, Amateur Radio is the thing for you.

Electronics

By: Anonymous

Electronics is a very cool thing to try in CommTech. In electronics, you have your choice of kit to build. I chose to build a digital entry keypad. When you type in the correct code, the door will be unlocked. But this is just one of hundreds of kits that you can build. Other examples are burglar alarms, FM transmitters, MP3 transmitters and many other projects. While having fun, you learn some important skills that you will be able to use when you get a job somewhere. Electronics is a great thing to try.

Kayaking

By: Hector Vazquez

Camp Shohola has several popular activities, such as ropes, rugby, sailing, skateboarding, and others. However, one activity has remained consistently popular; kayaking. Considered the best activity in camp, kayaking offers kids the opportunity to explore new things. In the past teachers like Pedro, Alberto, and even Tom Daniels handled the class well. Now, Shinky, Jordan, Izaak, and Chris Wright are the only counselors left. That is why Working Seniors, like Edmund, JuanMan, Tom Melton, and Hector Vasquez (ME) had to put in an extra effort to help in the class.

Paddling is an essential part of a kayaker's ability to perform. Once someone can paddle well, he can start trying T-rescue rolls. When he has covered those, he can try a harder roll called the Eskimo roll. This roll involves flipping back over with your paddle only. For more experienced kayakers, hand rolls provide an excellent challenge. They involve a lot of hip movement, and strong determination. This year, hip-rolls have been performed by Shinky, Edmund, and Hector (ME). To do a hip roll, you must have an amazing hip movement, because you can't use your hands or your paddle.

Kayak polo is another big part of the kayaking class. Overall, kayaking has to be one of the best activities in camp, because of the counselors, working seniors, activities, and opportunities. I strongly encourage everyone to give kayaking a try.

Photography

By: Anonymous

This year in photography, we had a blast. We learned how to take better pictures, and we even got to develop them ourselves. We also got to use digital cameras, and we learned how to edit pictures and also how to make them bigger. It is so fun to develop your own film. It is so cool to use the darkroom. I recommend photography to absolutely anyone. It is just so cool.

Sailing

By: Edmund Carlton

Sailing is a really fun thing to do when there is wind. It is one of my favorite things to do at camp. In the sailing class, learning, and then practicing is the key. In sailing, we use a boat, but not just any boat. We use a boat with a sail that captures the great power of the wind. Great adventures can be had sailing. With sailing, you experience something that no other sport offers; harnessing one of nature's most powerful forces. I highly suggest trying sailing as one of your activities.

Ropes

By: Paul Fremeau

Everyone this year has had a great time in Ropes class. We learned how to tie some useful knots, and we got to climb a lot. One of the most fun things was the ropes competition that we had with some other camps. In ropes, you can do rappelling, rock climbing; you can play in the cargo net, and use the zip line. The zip line is one of the most fun things to do. You go whizzing down the line at breakneck speeds, and then you let yourself down slowly, as if you are rappelling. It's totally awesome. Also the catwalk is sweet. You walk up a slippery log, climb up a huge tree, and then walk along a skinny log, suspended 40 feet in the air. Then, when you get to the middle, you jump, you fall, and then the rope catches you. It is extreme.

Earlier this month, a trip was embarked upon by the brave souls at Landsports to Baseball's Hall of Fame in Cooperstown. A select few could go, and so to help decide who the lucky kids would be, all applicants were asked to write an essay listing the reasons why they should be allowed to go to Cooperstown. Here are a few examples of what was presented.

Owen Kimmel

Cabin 12

Dear Mr. Rubin,

I would like to go on the trip to Cooperstown because I love baseball. I practically walk, talk and breathe baseball. I would lie if baseball was non-existent. I was crying when Roger Clemens was retiring from the Yankees. I would gladly miss the Dance and/or the Red Baron's game. One of my life goals is to go to the Hall of fame.

David Hecker
Working Senior

I think I deserve to go to the baseball hall of Fame in Cooperstown for more reasons than one. One reason is that as you know, I'm in the Working Seniors cabin and this is my last year as a camper, and my last chance to go on this trip. Also, I believe I deserve to go on this trip because not only do I take 8 Landsports classes, 2 of which are baseball, but I love sports with a fighting passion. Finally, I think I should go to Cooperstown because I went on this trip in 1999 (Cabin 3) and got car sick and didn't get to experience everything because I was throwing up. That is why I think I should be chosen for the Cooperstown trip.

Greg Rosen
Working Senior

I should go to Cooperstown because of two majors reasons. One is my understanding of time as a socially created figment, thus I would be able to derive more enjoyment from a lesser span of "time." The second reason is that I am a Working Senior and there are several reasons why this is advantageous. The first being my level of knowledge and maturity would alleviate some of the responsibilities of counselors. The second is that Working Seniors are a close group of friends and the more Working Seniors there are, the better the group's unity will be.

Jafet Garcias
Counselor, Cabin 2

Porque tengo que ir al Salon de la Fama?

La resquesta es simple, bueno no tan simple ya que ustedes deben de pensar que soy turista y que no conosco nada de basebal. Lo unico que conosco es que es el deporte mas visto porlas americanos, pero eso no es todo; que me discende Los primeras personas que estruvienon en el salon de la fama como Ty Cobb que fue un gran jugador de los Tigres de Detriot yd Philadelphia Athletics tambien conocido cmom "Georgia Peach", Walter Johnson "the big train" que pichaba como los grandes, a velociades increibles, christy Mathewson, picher conocido coma "matty" con uno de los mejore records; or Babe Ruth, the "sultan of swat" que tenia un record e 215 of the 226 and the last one is Honus Wagner que tenia una; manos enormes para poder controlar su posiciion de short stop lo llamban "flaying dutchman" gano 8 National League batting con mas de 3000 hits. Como pueden ver no soy tan ignorante como creen pero si ustedes no me escojen estaran comeltienda un gran error al no dejarme convivin y crecer en miss cononscimientos.

Argus Dedication

By Edmund Carlton and Tyler Woods

This month's Argus is dedicated to a woman who managed to bring the infirmary out of a Dark Age that can only be described as First Month. There was a time during first month when children were afraid to complain about a bellyache or a runny nose. I myself can remember one fateful morning when I was feeling down, couldn't seem to turn my frown upside down, with a warm forehead and a scratchy throat, I walked into the infirmary. To my dismay, I came upon a frightful situation. I was scared, worried, lost and alone and wishing, wishing, wishing...wishing for a woman so amazing, so great, she could single handedly turn any frown upside down.

To the camp's elation Helen Cimera made a triumphant return to La-La Land. Shohola no longer had to suffer through painful morning announcements packed with mispronounced names. The children of Camp Shohola no longer feared the outcome of a bellyache, a tickle in their throat or a tingle in their sinuses. Helen Cimera brings an unmistakable element to Camp Shohola. Her kind and gentle demeanor has the power to make you feel warm and fuzzy, no matter how dire your circumstances may be. But don't think her talents end at the infirmary, she has the presence of mind to not only heal the body, but to involve herself in the many other camp affairs. It could even be said she has the ability to heal the soul. Thank you Helen for being such a wonderful woman. The Working Seniors love you and hope you come back to camp forever.

BananaDo: The Way of the Banana

By Richard Chown

The sun beat down on the dry hill. Small feet kicked up a cloud of dust as the flag raised high above the gathering. Eyes shifted above the crowd as spaces were judged and positions were claimed. A broad ring of twitching figures spread across the hill.

A bell rang out and the nervous figures broke into action, running to the surrounding cabins and peering out of the shaded doorways.

The children had gone and one figure stood alone on the hill, the dust swirling around him as he eyed the cabins. He did not have long. His target was within the walls of the hut before him, safe, but he had to come out soon and there was only one door.

The prey did not come out and the hunter decided he could not waste this opportunity. He entered the cabin, His prey looked up with pathetic panic in his wet eyes.

“I am safe here!” The prey cried.

“But you must leave!” Cried the hero.

“I will not!”

“If you do not leave, I will remove you!” The hunter grabbed the prey by it's leg and dragged it towards the door. The prey screamed and whined like a little girl and screamed that his leg was being broken. The kindly hunter released the leg and the prey scurried away to the back of the cabin, screaming that he would not leave.

The hunter left and returned with the goodly judicial director who ordered the prey from his cabin for fear of being banished from the grounds for ever more.

The prey stepped from his cabin onto the porch, his head hung low in miserable, evil, shame, to face the hunter, standing proud, banana in hand ready to duel. The prey drew his banana.

There was a pause as they judged each other, then the hunter lunged for the prey who skulked out of the way. The prey huddled in the corner and it was all he could do to dodge the attacks. The prey then pointed and called out, "Look, a poor child has fallen and hurt his knee, we must go and assist him!" The goodly hunter turned for a moment, all thoughts of the duel forgotten, then felt the cold stab of banana in his back. The cold was replaced with the sensation of burning radioactive gunk spreading across his skin and the acrid stench of banana in his nostrils. He crumpled to his knees, tears rolling down his cheeks. He was out of the game.

Green Captain's Speech

by Edmund Carlton

This is my fifth banquet at Camp Shohola, counting from my first year at banquet in 2001 I have been imagining standing up here and making this speech. This Green and White year has been filled with ups and downs, there was lots of controversy and excitement throughout the whole year. I must say that Greg and his co-captains, Hector and Marshall did a spectacular job in Green White this year. The competition and spirit this year I saw from both sides was much greater than I've seen in a long time. I'd also like to thank Mark and Kevin for being the commissioners this year and doing all they can to keep the campers spirited.

I would also like to thank my co-captains and my working seniors for being such a great help during the whole summer. Ben Fraimow was always there to help me organize my lists and stay up late to slave over filling up spots with me. I want to thank David Hecker for being my fill in captain when I went on a trip and also sticking in there at the swim meet after he lost a fight to a Water-ski. I would also like to give a special thanks to my unofficial co-captains Juan Manuel Jiminez, Tyler Woods, and Drew Levan.

There was one event in this color war that truly defines the Green's persistence and spirit and that was the Apache race. I have a couple of honorable mentions. My Iron-man of the apache race is definitely Aidan Morrow for being run over by a bike during the beginning of the race, only going to the infirmary for a short amount of time and coming back to the crib to cheer on his friends as they found that potato in record time. I would also like to mention Rusty Mower for losing time in hockey but being such a fluent amazing superbly quick biddy. I also just want to thank everyone on the green team for trying their best and giving all they had in their events.

I must admit the feeling of winning that apache race and jumping into the water with a crowd of people cheering around was by far the most glorious moment of my camp career. I thoroughly enjoyed being the captain this year even though at sometimes I thought I would need therapy at the end of the summer for detrimental nervous system damage, but I survived and I would just like to congratulate everyone who made this color war so spectacular including my opponents. Good luck to everyone in future Green-White years and thanks again for the great summer. Edmund Carlton

Shohola

By Anonymous

Less than a week after camp ends, the whole summer feels like I dreamt it. For 9 weeks a year, we exist in an alternate universe where apparently it's normal to wear our underwear outside of our pants and where pink is a normal color of hair. Not only are our eccentricities accepted but they are rewarded and applauded.

Camp is not only a community but also a family. We laugh at and with each other. We cry for and because of one another. Meals, living spaces and work areas are shared. We get in each other's faces but also into each other's blood. This altered state of consciousness, this other plane of existence, this land called Shohola.

Shohola forever burns in my heart
I love miles away but never apart
this life away from reality always to be part of me cultures and faces collide to end up all side by side friendships forged memories made lives changed, foundations laid
Why do you come back? Keep in mind
At Shohola forever – peace is what you find
Will I return? God only knows
but for now I'm happy,
it's this reality I chose

Anonymous

Overheard

by George Meling

"The rattlesnake's only natural enemy is the gun."

-Alex Hecker, at a staff meeting.

"Oh crap...butt sweat."

-Tony Grinage upon finding wet receipts in his pants pocket.

"My current warehouse is in the lower office."

-Adrian Hazell, meaning to instead say, whereabouts.

"But Daddy...I need you to find my shark boy and you need to have your keys."

-Ethan Barger, holding up Duncan's keys, trying to make an exchange.

"For the first 20 years of my life, I thought I was allergic to milk. Now I realize that it was cats."

-Richard Chown as said to George on the Rec Hall steps.

"C'mon Jessie, shake your booty!"

-Oscar Verdia to Jessie Hazell while chasing her in front of the Dining Hall.

"There are times in the day when I'm awake and then I'm a hoot!"

-Chris Dallas Feeney in fishing class.

"I have a stupid person ache."

Rob Bortner in response to George saying, "I have a stomach ache."

"I have an unusually warm butt."

Said nonchalantly by ex-counselor, Eric Shansby during his recent visit to Camp Sholola.

Kitchen Staff

by Roberto Pardo

They are one of the most important staff that we have on camp Shohola. They just don't cook, they dedicate time to our food and they make sure that we eat and get out of the dinning hall, happy with a full stomach. They're favorite food to cook is our favorite to eat, macaroni and cheese. A combination of cheese, team work, and dedication makes it good for everyone.

Waterfront

By Melissa Rinaldi

What a summer! It had been many (many, many and yes, many) years since I attended a summer camp and I had forgotten all the wonderful friendships and experiences that occur during the summer!

There was a lot of information to learn about the Waterfront and I don't know how I would have survived the summer without the help of the Waterfront Staff. Each one of the Counselors brought something special to the summer. Thank you all.

It was a truly amazing to watch as campers that had never kayaked before learn to do a bow roll or someone who never sailed before participate in the sailing regatta. Not to mention all the wonderful swimmers, canoe classes, and windsurfers – what a feeling to watch you all improve and learn!

Thank you to all the Camp Shohola staff and campers for helping to make this summer one that I will never forget!

Remember – water is better and Gatorade is mostly water.

*A pair of metrical compositions that were traded between two of Shohola's
poet-laureates*

Christian Blandford

An Ode To the J.O.D

By Joe Polinger

He handles the phone

*With poise and grace
Tu ojos es muy grande
Si, he even speak Spanish
While on his J.O.D quest
Which truly proves
he's the best of the best.*

The Argus

Volume 66 Issue 2
Friday, August 19, 2005

Camp Shohola
105 Weber Road
Greeley, PA 18425-9797

Duncan Barger – Executive Director
Adrian Hazell – Co-Director

Phone: 570 685-7186

Fax: 570 685-4563
E-Mail: office@shohola.com
Web page: http://www.shohola.com

Argus Administration

Juan Manuel Jimenez & Paul Fremeau – Editors-in-Chief
Zachary Herring – Counselor advisor
Working Seniors of 2005 – Production
Tom Gibson – Supervisor

The Shohola “S” Winners

The Shohola “S” is given to those campers who, in the estimation of the Camp Shohola staff, demonstrate achievement, friendliness, helpfulness, responsibility and leadership. The Argus would like to congratulate the following campers for receiving this prestigious award.

1st Month

Machael Ackerman – Cabin 15
Wesley Cotter – Cabin 2
Ben Elkind – Cabin 16
Adam Goff – Cabin 5
Diego Huacuja – Cabin 3
Sam Rashin – Cabin 16

2nd Month

Jose Vazquez - Cabin 2
Miguel Pallares – Cabin 3
Roberto Pardo – Cabin 5
Elliot Williams – Cabin 12

We Remember So Well 2nd Month 2005

By: Everyone

Larry campfire antics... the truth is out...
Crayola Man wears tighty-whiteys... sports injuries... The Most Dangerous Game : Ultimate Frisbee... pirate ship on the hill... sleeping with Davy Jones in his locker... sneaking past ROW duty, way past ROW duty... Shohola Dance Team... Schiff's bed floats... t-shirt rally at the Red Barons game... the left-handed smoke shifter... runaway... runaway... they're not in the water... Kyle vs. Fence : Kyle loses... Tom Gibson FINALLY attends a Red Baron's game...
AND LIKES IT... waterskiing days... Sam gets tired Fun n' Games... Geoghegan having more shoes than passion... Camp Shohola has more nurses than Geoghegan has shoes... Shohola Survivor... Larry Potter... Klondike day... another great Carnival... Mike Wilmore's stinky feet... solo raid on cabin 4... Rubberband Man and the Rubberband bandit... similarity? The angry gnome... Mayor Lanky... Mr. Assistant...
Tagalong... Ira Goldstein... Pudd'nhead Wilson...
22-shot Fraimow... and all the other great characters in the gold rush in Dawson city...
Fraimow trips at Netimus... Schiff backing down from Crystal's duel... pirate breakfast...
Doug Richards leads WCSR Hockey play-by-play... there's a hole in my bucket... Shohola goes balls-out for Gob Stoppers... Shohola beats PFC in 15-u & 13-u bball... Henrick scores 50 in NBA... Favorite trip of the summer ; Milford Urgent Care... Marshal Rader gets banned for life from Lake Greeley... Shohola takes Pike County by storm (WE SWEEP OWEGO, and they stay for lunch.)... Where's the Jelly?... Tony goes off-roading for Bambi... Subway IS fast food... Frank Green's night hike... Keenan catches the ball! And then spits it out... I wish someone would've taken pictures of this summer... Fraimow trips over lawn chair at Netimus... rest half-hour... Edmund scores in NBA... Boober's late wake-up... We remember the S winner Bob... WS Day off and all of its adventures... The Rugby Tournament... Piperis steroids scandal... Camp Shohola gets a visit from the U.S. Coastguard Helicopter and crew; thanks NJ tax payers... The Apache Race... Rule 76... Shohola smashes all outside invaders in hockey... George's nature trips... Fraimow tripping on his birthday when skipping around Netimus... David Peel doesn't stop complaining at White Mountains... Harry Potter Day... Shohogwartz... Pinata... I want some candy!... Lets play a game... whose involved? Mulligan! Where's Paul Fremeau? twenty lifeguards... five could swim... is it Tuesday yet? Get your lifejackets ready... storm's a'comin'!... There's gold in that crick!... watching the sunset during XKL... hey Aiden is that Firestone or Michelin? ... Fraimows first kiss... Yo mamma likes to jump on trampelines!... How can OD Man lose OD Survivor??... Sat-ARRRR-days... hey Tony... stop yelling... Texas Trio... Fraimow ties a career high... God... wasn't that funny when Fraimow tripped at Netimus? WSP 2005... the Shohola "S" and all of the other great memories that went on in 2005 at Sho-ho-ho-ho La-la-lala... Deep... deep... deep in the heart of La La Land”. Good times... Shohola... good times.